GUIDED WRITING

When you write a story, you usually include the following features: 1. It is set in a time & place.

1. Give the characters names & a possible background.
2. Describe the characters' appearance & personality.
3. Show the reader how the characters act in the story.

Now read the example text & think about the following questions. Write your answers in the boxes below. You can use the words in the box to help you.

Example: "The birthday party was a wonderful occasion. The children and adults, dressed in their best clothes, gathered in the hall. The birthday cake was the highlight of the evening. The birthday boy cut the cake and all of the children sang the birthday song. The birthday party was a great success and everyone had a wonderful time." (Note: the example paragraph begins the birthday party.)

1. What is the occasion? (When? Where? How? How many people? What time? What day? What month? What year?)

2. What is the occasion? (When? Where? How? How many people? What time? What day? What month? What year?)

SITUATIONAL DIALOGUE

Tom is writing an email to his friend, Neveal, about his coming birthday. Read his plan first and rearrange the order of different parts of the email by choosing A to E in the boxes below.

Plan:

Paragraph 1 Greeting
Paragraph 2 Who I am going to invite
Paragraph 3 Responding to Neveal's letter
Paragraph 4 The food we are going to have
Paragraph 5 The gifts I am going to receive

4 A. I am going to have a big chocolate birthday cake and plenty of games, children's magazines and soft drinks. We are going to invite such as teachers and parents' dictionary.

3 B. I am so excited about my birthday party. It's going to be held in the school hall. I have invited all my best friends including Teresa, Sam, Jody, Jackson, the living room with some seats. This will be the place to hold the party.

5 C. I have no idea what kind of gifts I am going to receive. He can get me a pair of new sneakers since the pair I have now has to have something inside for the summer. I would be grateful if you could help me. I have a special class. Talk to me soon.

1 D. Dear Neveal,

2 E. It's great to hear from you! Thank you for writing me and a party. It's a pity you cannot come because you are far away.

Your teacher tells you to write a composition about snakes. Before you write, think what is relevant to the topic. Some possible ideas about snakes are provided below. See whether you can choose the correct ones for your composition.
